

Fishery Round Up 2017

2017 has been another excellent year for Carsington Fishery.

Despite the reducing water levels over the season, our rod averages have remained impressive, notably we experienced some excellent fishing throughout July and August which are traditionally tougher months.

We wish to thank all of our returning customers, as well as the host of new anglers who have supported our fishery throughout this season.

We have had great success once again with our Spring and Autumn open competitions and look forward to those events during 2018.

2017 has seen an increase in clubs and external organisations holding their own competitions or introductory days with us and we hope to welcome these groups back again throughout next season.

Our Fishery Warden Team from 2017 have confirmed that they intend to return for the 2018 season, so there will be 3 very friendly familiar faces to welcome you on your visits. We would like to thank them for all their hard work helping to maintain a high standard of fishing, equipment and service this year.

25th Anniversary Tagged Fish Competition - Results

To celebrate 25 years of the site being open we introduced 25 tagged fish into the water. There were prizes for each of the fish caught. Only 15 out of the 25 fish were caught, they were all stocked at 4lbs and above.

Although the competition has now finished, these remaining fish should over-winter beautifully and make for some great sport next season.
